The Red Hat-Band.

Gorgeous head-gear have I seen, Milit'ry uniforms genul. But nought I've spied to equal yet The Army red hat-band.

It is so sweetly glaring.
You'd have knocked medown, off hand.
With a breath, when tirst I saw it,
That gaudy, dear red-band.

Red as a red carnation, From a Covent Garden stand, With letters like London mustard Chiters the red-liat band!

There's unught half-hearted in is, A dance may well understand, The B-a-l-v-a-t-i-Ou, around that red hat-band.

A flash of summer lighting.
In the hastling, crowded Strand,
Its flaring red brings loud "Oh my'a!
Ho's jined the jyful band!"

"Yer got 'em now !" shouts cabby.
"Yer bound for the 'appy land !"
As a playful stalk of cabbage
Catches the red bat-band !

I've seen some folks unstitub it— It's terrible showy—and They like to take things quietfy, So drop the red hat-band.

So drop too too too.

But I can love it bottor,
If that for its toxoding grand;
